SAFETY RULES

Every person using a firearm must strictly and meticulously follow safety rules. Considering that precious lives are at stake, absolute discipline is a must.

Rigid Rules which must be followed:

1. All rifles will be carried on the range in hard/Soft Cases. When out of the case, bolt action rifles will have their bolts open and safety flag inserted in the breech and double rifles will be carried with breech open.
2. Treat a gun with respect at all times - it is not a plaything.
3. Always point a gun down range whether you are shooting, dry firing, or aiming.
4. A gun must always be kept unloaded except when you are actually firing it.
5. Even if someone tells you a gun is unloaded, assume it is loaded, until you check to make sure it is unloaded.
6. No sooner a command for ceasefire is given, immediately unload your Rifle, open the action, and place it on the table. You may touch a firearm only after the command "load."
7. While loading, keep your finger outside the trigger guard. Finger may be placed on the trigger ONLY when you are ready to lift the arm for a shot.
8. Before touching anybody else's weapon, take his permission.

9. Any person pointing a weapon at another person intentionally or unintentionally will be debarred immediately.

You will always be safe with a firearm if you scrupulously follow the above rules.

Safety - Additional Points

a) EYES

With Indian ammunition you often get powder and shreds of lead flying in all directions. These can cause injury to the eyes. It is necessary therefore, to use eye protector.

b) EARS

Rifle shots are extremely loud and dangerous to the ears. Prolonged exposure to Rifle shots will cause progressive deafness. It is necessary therefore, to use ear protectors. These can be earplugs, ear valves, or earmuffs.

c) SYSTEM-LEAD

All bullets are made of lead which is a very SOFT and also a very POISONOUS metal. By merely rubbing a bullet you will get lead on your hands.

d) Always wash your hands after handling ammunition.

Lead is not only toxic but it is accumulative i.e. it accumulates in the system. Therefore, even small doses are highly dangerous over a period of time.

e) SYSTEM - LUBRICATING OILS

In order to protect Rifle against rust it is necessary to oil them after use. Most oils are harmful and not only that, they contain various chemical additives, which are also toxic. It is therefore necessary to wash your hands with soap and water after handling weapons as a matter of precaution. Of course, the oils MUST be kept out of reach of children.

f) Ensure before firing, the barrel is clear from oil and any obstructions.

RANGE RULES

1. Before occupying the Lane, please sign the Lane Register
2. Keep your Competitor Card and Firearms License handy and show to the Range Office on Duty when demanded.
3. Obey all commands of the Range Officer.
4. Unload your firearm during cease-fire, insert safety flag and keep the weapon on the table pointing towards the target.
5. Follow all Safety Rules.
6. Do not disturb the shooter while he is shooting or relaxing as long as he is in the Shooting Bay, even if is your friend.
